

Good Faith Estimate

As a patient, you have the right to receive a Good Faith Estimate outlining the expected cost of your medical care. This requirement applies to individuals who do not have insurance or are not using insurance for their care.

- You are entitled to a written Good Faith Estimate that details the total expected cost of any non-emergency medical services or items. This includes associated costs such as medical tests, prescriptions, equipment, and hospital fees.
- Your health care provider must provide this estimate in writing at least 1 business day before your scheduled service. You may also request a Good Faith Estimate from your provider, or any other provider, before scheduling a service or item.
- If your final bill exceeds the Good Faith Estimate by $400 or more, you have the right to dispute the charge.
- Be sure to keep a copy or photo of your Good Faith Estimate for your records.
